The Society of Occupational Medicine (SOM) and James Hallam have developed an indemnity policy for professionals who work in occupational health.

What is appropriate, adequate and necessary insurance for nurses who work in occupational health?

With the complexities of understanding what you are getting, coupled with prohibitive costs, our research suggests that many occupational health nurses struggle to obtain the correct insurance.

In partnership with SOM, ProMed (James Hallam Insurance Brokers) has created a quality product offering straightforward, flexible and comprehensive cover for occupational health nurses.

We have addressed all of these issues and packaged various policies together. Key benefits include:

- Up to £5,000,000 limit of indemnity
- Medical malpractice – run off not necessary - perpetual cover for events occurring during the period of insurance
- Professional indemnity with automatic run off for one year and longer by negotiation
- Libel and slander and breach of confidentiality included
- Premiums starts from as little as £270.00 plus insurance premium tax
- Optional legal expenses cover
- Fitness to practice and compliance legal expenses
